CARTA FATA COOKING PAPER

If we were told that there is a container so versatile that in it products can be cooked with or without liquid, capable of being used in the microwave or oven, in water, in hot oil or on a griddle, we might think that it's about magic... Carta Fata is a transparent baking paper, developed in collaboration with the Italian chef Fabio Tacchella, which allows you to form sachets with products that can be subjected to temperatures of 230 ° C. This resistance to heat makes it possible to cook tasty - as the aromas remain inside the bag -, healthy and light, in reduced times and preserving all the nutritional value of the food.
